

CULT RECRUITERS ON CU-BOULDER CAMPUS

Paid staffers for the Resurrection Church are recruiting new members on the CU-Boulder campus. They will shower recruits with compliments and invite recruits to numerous social engagements. They will become your best friends, and then they will isolate you from your friends and family, demand full disclosure of your finances, and require that you tith significant amounts of money. They will discourage you from dating people outside of the church, and arrange marriages within the church. These people will seem like your best friends before they take over your life. Please proceed with caution when you see them. Resurrection Church is banned by RCO at CU!
